

on the horizon

Our next issue will be for August and September. It is unbelievable how quickly time passes. Many of us want to take a trip, attend a rally, have a nice vacation or go on a cruise but it never seems to happen.

And that is exactly the problem, these things don't just "happen" they have to be thought out and planned well in advance.

Recently one of our advertisers – a campground in the Rockies – stated that he didn't want to advertise in the winter issues because no one is traveling then. The point that he is missing is that it is exactly during those months that many people are planning their trips and making their decisions about where to go and what to do in the good months.

Okay you are a procrastinator, you realize that the summer will soon be half over and you haven't planned your big trip. It isn't too late.

Get in touch with one of the tour operators – such as Turkey Creek Tours – and let them handle all of the details for you. You will have a wonderful time without the hassle of planning your own entire route and finding places to stay.

One of the other resources unique to our magazine is the number of area Convention and Visitor Bureaus that help sponsor us. These people are happy to have you contact them to get additional information about visiting their areas.
